

At Sacramento Wildlife Center, our founding principles are to provide:

- high-quality health care and services for our patients- California's sick, injured, and orphaned wildlife- which includes rescue, rehabilitation, and release back into their habitats;
- engaging and entertaining educational opportunities- that increase public knowledge about, and participation in, the issues that affect California wildlife, its habitats, and the environment; and
- a positive and rewarding experience for all of our volunteers and staff- that continually appreciates and recognizes the dedication and commitment each provides in furthering our mission.

Our Mission

Sacramento Wildlife Center is devoted to the rescue and rehabilitation of California's sick, injured, and orphaned wildlife for release into their natural habitats. We are dedicated to educating the public to respect and coexist with wildlife in the environment.

Who We Are

We are ambitious.

As a recently-formed 501(c)(3) corporation, we're still in our growing stages, but our assembled team of experienced wildlife rehabilitators are ready and excited to get to work.

Our goal is simple, yet daunting: to build a premiere wildlife rehabilitation hospital and education facility in the greater Sacramento metropolitan area, the state capital of the sixth-largest economy in the world.

What We Do

We empower people to help wildlife.

Upon opening, Sacramento Wildlife Center will be a year-round, full-time operation, caring for sick, injured, and orphaned wildlife, as well as educating the public in engaging and entertaining ways- including how to help SacWildlife with our wildlife rehabilitation efforts and the successful release of our patients back into the wild.

Our envisioned facility will include a modern care hospital and patient ward built with efficiency of care in mind, flanked by an interactive educational center that explores our native wildlife populations, their habitats, the impact we have on their survival, and how we can minimize or reverse those effects.

Why We Do It

Just look at these faces!

There's a level of passion and inspiration that grows from caring for wildlife- and we love sharing it.

By providing one-of-a-kind experiences through education and volunteer programs, we'll ALL make a difference together!
